Yukon Resources

From Environment Yukon, Yukon Government

Available from:

Environmental Education and Youth Programs P.O. Box 2703 (V-18) Whitehorse, YT, Y1A 2C6. For more details on any of these, or to arrange a workshop, call the Manager at 667-3675.

Games

BIGFOOT littlefoot – The idea of a person’s “ecological footprint” is the basis of the game. In moving around the board, each player attempts to reduce his/her individual footprint. Players also cooperate to earn puzzle pieces which make up a map of the eco-regions of the Yukon Territory. Fits Grade 4-7 curriculum.
Available in school libraries.

Publications

Below Zero (K-12): The cold weather companion to Project WILD, just recently published and available to teachers through a hands-on workshop. Full of activities that focus on wildlife in the cold, and that can take place in the outdoors in the winter.

Project WILD (K-12): The classic wildlife and environmental learning guide, tried and true, with well over a million educators trained in North America. Available through an in-service or after-hours workshop.

Project WET (K-12): This mega-guide (516 pages and 91 fund activities!) aims to “facilitate and promote awareness, appreciation, knowledge and stewardship of water resources”. Teachers are required to take a hands-on workshop.

Project Caribou (K-12): This made-in-the-North resource gathers the best of materials and activities focusing on caribou, symbol of the northland (150 pp).
Downloads and info at www.projectcaribou.net.

A Leaders Guide to Teacher & Learning “Leave No Trace” (5-9): Environment Yukon is actively promoting the “leave no trace” or “LNT” ethic. This guide is full of ideas and activities for sharing LNT with your class.
Workshop required.

Protected Areas: Preserving Our Future (5-9): Innovative activities help the learner discover the why’s and how’s of creating protected areas in the Yukon. In one lesson, overlay maps help students make informed decisions about protection in two study areas: Kluane and Tombstone. A video is also included. Look for a copy in your school.

Wolves: A Yukon Learning Resource (K-10): All about wolves and how they fit in their ecosystem. Activities are divided into primary, intermediate and high school levels. One unit gets students to critically examine media reports about wolves.

Wild Sheep of North America (K-10): A resource about wild sheep in the Yukon and elsewhere. Like all of the resources listed here, up-to date information is complemented by hands-on activity ideas. Complements Project WILD.
